CRIES206

This line evokes the industrial atmosphere and cultural fusion of 1970s New York lofts, influenced by multidisciplinary artists and creatives. The collection combines chromatic and textural finishes, with a knurled detailing that creates a visual and tactile contrast, offering a pleasant experience to the touch. The mixers are primarily produced in low-lead brass. The production process, which includes turning, hot stamping, and gravity casting, is carried out in-house to ensure high quality. The designers were inspired by mechanical tooling, enhancing industrial features with various finishes: from brushed black chrome to brushed metallic, from gold brass to matte black, and even antique brass. These options enrich the range of personal choices. The collection represents a perfect synthesis of industrial aesthetics, tactile functionality, and quality craftsmanship, reflecting a contemporary and versatile design ethos.
