Tabula is a collection of faucets that stands out for its combination of glossy surfaces and geometric cuts. This series focuses on simplicity and the purity of lines, embodying the "less is more" philosophy. Each element is designed to function and last over time, reflecting the production and technological expertise of CRISTINA Rubinetterie. Matte black dominates the palette, further highlighting the sharpness and purity of the design.The designers of this series drew inspiration from the austere beauty and sense of lightness in Japanese aesthetics, particularly the concept of iki, as explored by Kuki Shūzo. The philosophy of "making light" is reflected in the minimalist design of the faucet, especially in the lever, reduced to an essential form. This choice transformed the product's architecture, making the lever a two-dimensional element that surprises in its handling.
